

Here at Quanticks we are really pleased to be supporting the Brigitte Trust, a wonderful local charity that provides help and support to people and their families facing life-threatening illnesses.

Throughout small charities (13 – 18 June) we are offering a free will-writing service and donating our fees to the Brigitte Trust. Based very close to us in Dorking High Street they provide a great service across Surrey and into West Sussex.

The Brigitte Trust celebrated it's 30th Anniversary last year as well as the Queen's Award for Voluntary Service. The charity work closely with health professionals and hospices, complementing their service by offering people facing cancer and other life-threatening illnesses time to share feelings and concerns as well as practical help at home when everyday tasks may have become more difficult.

To make a will appointment please give Louise a call on 03300 020 365 and to find out more about the Brigitte Trust please visit their website <http://www.brigitte-trust.org/>

'It's very special to be supported by a local company and any money raised during small charities week will be used to reach out to more people in the community at a time of real need' - Vanessa Smith, Brigitte Trust
