Appendix A – Funeral Directors in Surrey

Appendix B – Crematoriums in the UK

1. Introduction

The Brigitte Trust is a small independent charity established in 1984. We are affiliated with Coffin Club UK and we run Coffin Club Surrey.

Coffin Clubs are a safe place to come and plan and cost your perfect send-off. Coffin Clubs help people understand their choices and options and empower them to take control of their end of life celebration.

This information pack aims to provide you with some key information and empower you to sort out the end of your life so you can get on with living!

2. Did you know . . . ?

- You can arrange a funeral in the UK with or without the services of a Funeral Director.
- Families have the legal right to care for their own dead at home.
- Embalming is usually not necessary and not required by law.
- Families can make all funeral arrangements and decisions with or without a funeral director.
- Families can fill out and file the necessary documents and transport their dead with dignity in any vehicle, including a family estate car. If required, conventional black and alternative hearses may be hired directly.
- Coffins are not required by law for burial or cremation. If required, coffins may be bought directly. Alternatively, families may use a shroud for both burial or cremation.
- Families may lead part of or all of the funeral ceremony themselves.
- Funeral services may be held at home and/or in any place of the families choosing e.g. barn, village hall, back garden, hotel etc.
- For cremation, families have the right to book their chosen time and date directly at any crematorium.
- For burial, families have the right to bury in traditional church/Council run cemeteries, natural burial grounds or, in some cases, on their own land.

3. Buying a Coffin

If you were to join us at a Coffin Club Surrey course you could purchase a coffin to decorate with the group and exchange ideas.

You may not wish to join a Coffin Club course, however you can purchase a coffin from us to decorate or paint at your leisure, then store at home, in the garage or loft. Some people choose to have them as a coffee table or blanket storage!

Coffin Club Surrey has a relationship with Greenfield Coffins the UK's leading manufacturer of cardboard coffins. The range of cardboard coffins are a great choice for those looking for an eco-friendlier option. These coffins are accepted at all cemeteries, crematoriums and woodland burial sites across the UK.

4. Direct Cremation

There are various non-traditional funeral options. A direct cremation is when cremation takes place without using a funeral director, a funeral service or family and friends in attendance. It is completely separate from a traditional funeral or a personal farewell. Someone might choose this if they dislike funerals, wish to focus on a celebration of life, do not want a 'fuss' or as a less costly option.

Direct cremation may be available at your local crematorium. Some funeral directors may offer this service and there are companies that offer expert direct cremation services.

5. Doulas

Doulas are specially trained companions who fill the gap between family and professional care. Their support allows people to feel more able to cope with death, dying and loss, whether at home, in a care home, hospice or hospital.

Doulas take a flexible approach and can:

- Talk through practical requirements
- Help think about wishes for the end of life
- Empower people to continue to engage with normal everyday life
- Give time to assist with attending to the small but meaningful day to day things that matter
- Draw upon and bring together the goodwill of friends and neighbours
- Act as a mentor and advocate for the person who is dying
- Support when complicated feelings arise
- Liaise with health professionals
- Help to create a safe, compassionate and accepting environment
- Explain what to expect
- Advise about available resources
- Create opportunities for sharing, rituals or prayers
- Continue to offer support to friends and family after the time of death

For more information about Doulas visit <https://eol-doula.uk/contact-us/>

6. Celebrants

Funeral Directors and Celebrants work together but have very separately defined roles. So, at its most simple: Funeral Directors do the fabulous job of taking care of the body and Celebrants do the fabulous job of creating and conducting the ceremony.

Funeral Directors pick up the person who has died. Store that person and wash and dress them. They talk to the family about the sort of service they would like, what venue etc. and organise the coffin. They would book the church, crematorium or other venue and sort out the necessary paperwork. They transport the person from their premises to the funeral venue. All of this is done in liaison with the family and making sure their wishes are met. They can also book a celebrant for you if you choose not to book one directly.

Celebrants meet with the family to talk about what sort of service they would like. Talk them through their ceremony options. Talk to them about all the different things they could include in the ceremony. Talk to them about the person who has died and find out all about them so that they can write a ceremony script that is all about that person. They would draft the script and send to the family so that they can approve/amend/tweak and work together until it is exactly how they'd like it to be. They turn up at the funeral venue, check music, layout etc. They would conduct the ceremony with warmth and pathos.

Remember:

- You do not have to use a Funeral Director or a Celebrant. You can do everything yourself.
- You can use a Funeral Director but not a Celebrant i.e. have a friend or relative conduct your service or have no service at all.
- You can use a Celebrant but not a Funeral Director. Do all the care of the body and make arrangements yourself but just have someone on hand to take care of the ceremony.
- Celebrants do not work for Funeral Directors – they work for families and can be booked directly. Funeral Directors can engage the services of a Celebrant on behalf of the family. So you can book a celebrant directly or through a Funeral Director.

The founders of Coffin Club Hastings are Celebrants. You can find out more about them via their website www.kateandkatecelebrants.co.uk

You can find a celebrant via this website www.ukcelebrants.org.uk

7. Pallbearers and Gravediggers

Pallbearers

A pallbearer is usually someone who is selected by family members of the deceased to help carry the casket to the burial site at a funeral or into the crematorium. There are typically six to eight pallbearers, depending on the size and weight of the casket. Duties of a pallbearer can vary, dependent upon tradition or family wishes. Pallbearers can be men or women. You are able to contact freelance pallbearers through funeral directors if friends or family members cannot or do not wish to undertake the role.

Gravediggers

For those that have chosen a burial, there are independent gravediggers available to undertake the role of preparing the grave, ensuring the coffin is safely lowered and the grave is closed. Very few gravediggers use manual tools now most use JCB equipment, however by contacting an independent gravedigger you may be able to discuss this. Below are some of the independent gravediggers that we are aware of and their contact details:

What's going to happen to your body?	Write your wishes here
Do you have a pre-paid funeral plan? If yes, include details of who it is with and where the paperwork is located.
Do you want to be buried (costs more if you go out of area)

If buried: Where? Cemetery: Will it be a new or existing grave? Location / plot number if known. Natural area at conventional cemetery Natural burial ground Other – e.g. field at the back of your house.
Do you want to be cremated - which crematorium? (Costs more if you don't go locally!) Do you want your body donated to medical science? (This has to be organised in advance of your death. Contact your nearest teaching hospital for information and leave the relevant contact details here) Do you want your organs donated before burial/cremation? (Specify which organs here and where your donor card is kept)

Place of Celebration of Life	Write your wishes here
--	--------------------------------------

You don't have to have your celebration of life at the same place that your body is disposed of i.e. you can have your coffin in situ at a lovely barn venue for your service and then go on to the crematorium/cemetery. Or, you can be cremated first and have your ashes at your celebration of life. Or you can have not coffin or ashes present. Or... you can have a living funeral, where you're there in person!

Crematorium

Church (specify which)

Other religious building (specify which)

Other venue - eg village hall, social club, barn, hotel etc. (specify which)

Would you prefer a family-led funeral (i.e. no Funeral Director)?

Have you arranged with your family that this is your wish?

Who's going to be in charge of organising this? If you would rather have a Funeral Director on board - who is your preference?

Do you just want a funeral director to help with a few bits – e.g., storage of your body, transportation? If so, what bits do you want your family to do and which bits FD?

What would you like to be wearing?

Do you want make up or your hair done? You can attach a selfie here to show you at your best!!!

Do you want to be embalmed?

Do you want your wedding ring/other jewellery to go with you or be removed?

Do you want anything in the coffin with you? If so, what?

Do you want anything displayed on top of the coffin?

How would you like to be transported? Limousine-style hearse, motorbike, VW campervan, other

IDEA SPOT - In Finland friends and family write letters to the deceased (rather than to the bereaved) these are then read out at the funeral - Coffin Club loves this idea!!

Do you want to pre-plan your funeral service, i.e. talk to celebrant/ Funeral Director whilst you are still alive?
Do you have a favourite quote?
Do you have a favourite poem?
Any particular readings?
Any particular songs you would like played?
Do you want a particular theme?
How would you like to be remembered?
What three words would most describe your life?
Any things in your life you are particularly proud of?
Would you like a hymn / prayers?
Would you like a sing-a-long? This can work really well...e.g. 'I Have A Dream' by Abba and Twinkle Twinkle Little Star.
Flowers or donations?
Donations to charity in lieu of flowers? Y / N
My preferred charity / charities
If you are having your service in the church (or other religious venue), crematorium or graveside, would you then like a bit of a 'do' somewhere else, afterwards? If so, where?
If cremated, what do you want doing with your ashes? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Returned to family for private disposal</li> <li>• Interred in a grave or cremated remains plot at cemetery or churchyard.</li> <li>• Scattered in my favourite place.</li> </ul>
Obviously, it's useful to let your responsible adult know where all your bits of paperwork are e.g. will, life policies etc. Maybe have one cupboard/ drawer/filing cabinet where everything they'll need to sort out your affairs is kept.
